INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 11 1988–1989

Author Index

Achilles, C.M., Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Amundson, Kristen J., Benefits to Educators and Schools from the Inclusion of Parents, No. 3, p. 16

Bradley, Mary Jane, Research: Arkansas Superintendents Choose Their Most Influential Citizen School Advocates, No. 3, p. 33

Butler, Charles, Case Study Response: Can This School District Survive, response to Vol. 11, No. 1; No. 3, p. 25

Cannon, Keith, Research: PR Advisory Committees Are Viewed as an Effective Way to Obtain Community Input, No. 4, p. 31

Chance, Edward W., Case Study Response: Can This School District Survive, response to Vol. 11, No. 1; No. 3, p. 25

Denton, Kathy, Research: Chief Administrators of Student Affairs Departments in Texas Colleges and Universities Have an Important PR Role, No. 3, p. 32; Case Study Response: Seeing the Light, response to Vol. 11, No. 3; No. 4, p. 28

Drake, Thelbert L., Rewarding Academic Achievement — School officials detail how they recognize student excellence and progress, No. 2, p. 4

Epstein, Joyce L., State Government Leadership Is Necessary for Effective Parent Involvement, No. 3, p. 4

Farra, Harry, A Speaker's Effectiveness Checklist, No. 4, p. 36

Fredericks, Robert, Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, No. 3, p. 26

Graves, Sandra, Case Study Response: The PTA Controversy, response to Vol. 10, No. 4; No. 1, p. 23

Greenberg, Lenore, Teaching . . . It's a Vital Profession — New Jersey's Campaign to promote careers, No. 1, p. 25

Holliday, Albert E., What Is School Public Relations? — In search of an answer (a new definition related to student achievement), No. 1, p. 4

Jones, Alan H., Lawrence W. Prakken and The Education Digest, No. 4, p. 16

Lupton, Ellen, Period Styles — A demonstrated historical perspective on punctuation, capitalization and manuscript type and layout, No. 3, p. 11

National PTA, School Is What WE Make It! — A parent involvement planning kit, No. 2, p. 19

Nault, Hilary, Michigan — Where the Concept of State NSPRA Chapters Originated, No. 4, p. 4

Pitch, Benjamin, Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, No. 3, p. 26

Powell, James W., Case Study: Battle on the Board — A superintendent is caught in a contention between cost-cutters and moderates, No. 1, p. 20

Price, Steve, Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Sewell, Sheila, J., Book Review, No. 1, p. 33

Serabian, Art, Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Smith, Colleen, Book Reviews, No. 4, p. 35

Stark, Stephen L., Research: Female School Executives Identify Their 10 Top Stresses, No. 4, p. 32

Steller, Arthur W., Book Reviews, No. 1, p. 32; No. 2, p. 33; No. 3, p. 35; No. 4, p. 34

VandeGevel, Mel, Helping Parents Help Their Children — A media campaign to increase parent involvement, No. 1, p. 19

Vaupel, Carl F., Research: Arkansas Superintendents Choose Their Most Influential Citizen School Advocates, No. 3, p. 33

Walling, Donovan R., Desktop Newsletters Can Enhance Internal Communication, No. 4, p. 24

West, Philip T., Case Studies: Requiem for a Late Autumn Interlude — A superintendent, whose moods are ruled by the weather, faces a stormy conflict between two teachers, No. 3, p. 20; The Protege — A prospective superintendent struggles to preserve his integrity, No. 4, p. 26; Research: Chief Administrators of Student Affairs Departments in Texas Colleges and Universities Have an Important PR Role, No. 3, p. 32; Female School Executives Identify Their 10 Top Stresses, No. 4, p. 32

Witters-Churchill, Laurie, Research: Principals View Internship as an Important Way to Improve Communication Skills, No. 3, p. 32

Volume 11 1988–1989

Subject Index

Administration

Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, Robert Fredericks and Benjamin Pitch, No. 3, p. 26

Teaching . . . It's a Vital Profession — New Jersey's campaign to promote careers, Lenore Greenberg, No. 1, p. 25

Communication Processes

General

Period Styles — A demonstrated historical perspective on punctuation, capitalization and manuscript type and layout, Ellen Lupton, No. 3, p. 11

A Speaker's Effectiveness Checklist, Harry Farra, No. 4, p. 36

What Is School Public Relations? — In search of an answer (a new definition related to student achievement), Albert E. Holliday, No. 1, p. 4

External

Benefits to Educators and Schools from the Inclusion of Parents, Kristen J. Amundson, No. 3, p. 16

Helping Parents Help Their Children — A media campaign to increase parent involvement, Mel VandeGevel, No. 1, p. 19

Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, Art Serabian, Steve Price and C.M. Achilles, No. 2, p. 16

School Is What WE Make It! — A parent involvement planning kit, the National PTA, No. 2, p. 19

State Government Leadership Is Necessary for Effective Parent Involvement, Joyce L. Epstein, No. 3, p. 4

Internal

Desktop Newsletters Can Enhance Internal Communication, Donovan R. Walling, No. 4, p. 24

Rewarding Academic Achievement — School officials detail how they recognize student excellence and progress, Thelbert L. Drake, No. 2, p. 4

INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 11 1988–1989

Author Index

Achilles, C.M., Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Amundson, Kristen J., Benefits to Educators and Schools from the Inclusion of Parents, No. 3, p. 16

Bradley, Mary Jane, Research: Arkansas Superintendents Choose Their Most Influential Citizen School Advocates, No. 3, p. 33

Butler, Charles, Case Study Response: Can This School District Survive, response to Vol. 11, No. 1; No. 3, p. 25

Cannon, Keith, Research: PR Advisory Committees Are Viewed as an Effective Way to Obtain Community Input, No. 4, p. 31

Chance, Edward W., Case Study Response: Can This School District Survive, response to Vol. 11, No. 1; No. 3, p. 25

Denton, Kathy, Research: Chief Administrators of Student Affairs Departments in Texas Colleges and Universities Have an Important PR Role, No. 3, p. 32; Case Study Response: Seeing the Light, response to Vol. 11, No. 3; No. 4, p. 28

Drake, Thelbert L., Rewarding Academic Achievement — School officials detail how they recognize student excellence and progress, No. 2, p. 4

Epstein, Joyce L., State Government Leadership Is Necessary for Effective Parent Involvement, No. 3, p. 4

Farra, Harry, A Speaker's Effectiveness Checklist, No. 4, p. 36

Fredericks, Robert, Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, No. 3, p. 26

Graves, Sandra, Case Study Response: The PTA Controversy, response to Vol. 10, No. 4; No. 1, p. 23

Greenberg, Lenore, Teaching . . . It's a Vital Profession — New Jersey's Campaign to promote careers, No. 1, p. 25

Holliday, Albert E., What Is School Public Relations? — In search of an answer (a new definition related to student achievement), No. 1, p. 4

Jones, Alan H., Lawrence W. Prakken and The Education Digest, No. 4, p. 16

Lupton, Ellen, Period Styles — A demonstrated historical perspective on punctuation, capitalization and manuscript type and layout, No. 3, p. 11

National PTA, School Is What WE Make It! — A parent involvement planning kit, No. 2, p. 19

Nault, Hilary, Michigan — Where the Concept of State NSPRA Chapters Originated, No. 4, p. 4

Pitch, Benjamin, Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, No. 3, p. 26

Powell, James W., Case Study: Battle on the Board — A superintendent is caught in a contention between cost-cutters and moderates, No. 1, p. 20

Price, Steve, Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Sewell, Sheila, J., Book Review, No. 1, p. 33

Serabian, Art, Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, No. 2, p. 16

Smith, Colleen, Book Reviews, No. 4, p. 35

Stark, Stephen L., Research: Female School Executives Identify Their 10 Top Stresses, No. 4, p. 32

Steller, Arthur W., Book Reviews, No. 1, p. 32; No. 2, p. 33; No. 3, p. 35; No. 4, p. 34

VandeGevel, Mel, Helping Parents Help Their Children — A media campaign to increase parent involvement, No. 1, p. 19

Vaupel, Carl F., Research: Arkansas Superintendents Choose Their Most Influential Citizen School Advocates, No. 3, p. 33

Walling, Donovan R., Desktop Newsletters Can Enhance Internal Communication, No. 4, p. 24

West, Philip T., Case Studies: Requiem for a Late Autumn Interlude — A superintendent, whose moods are ruled by the weather, faces a stormy conflict between two teachers, No. 3, p. 20; The Protege — A prospective superintendent struggles to preserve his integrity, No. 4, p. 26; Research: Chief Administrators of Student Affairs Departments in Texas Colleges and Universities Have an Important PR Role, No. 3, p. 32; Female School Executives Identify Their 10 Top Stresses, No. 4, p. 32

Witters-Churchill, Laurie, Research: Principals View Internship as an Important Way to Improve Communication Skills, No. 3, p. 32

Volume 11 1988–1989

Subject Index

Administration

Implementing School Improvement — A review of what makes certain schools successful, Robert Fredericks and Benjamin Pitch, No. 3, p. 26

Teaching . . . It's a Vital Profession — New Jersey's campaign to promote careers, Lenore Greenberg, No. 1, p. 25

Communication Processes

General

Period Styles — A demonstrated historical perspective on punctuation, capitalization and manuscript type and layout, Ellen Lupton, No. 3, p. 11

A Speaker's Effectiveness Checklist, Harry Farra, No. 4, p. 36

What Is School Public Relations? — In search of an answer (a new definition related to student achievement), Albert E. Holliday, No. 1, p. 4

External

Benefits to Educators and Schools from the Inclusion of Parents, Kristen J. Amundson, No. 3, p. 16

Helping Parents Help Their Children — A media campaign to increase parent involvement, Mel VandeGevel, No. 1, p. 19

Involve Parents for Effective Surveys — This district received a 90% + return, Art Serabian, Steve Price and C.M. Achilles, No. 2, p. 16

School Is What WE Make It! — A parent involvement planning kit, the National PTA, No. 2, p. 19

State Government Leadership Is Necessary for Effective Parent Involvement, Joyce L. Epstein, No. 3, p. 4

Internal

Desktop Newsletters Can Enhance Internal Communication, Donovan R. Walling, No. 4, p. 24

Rewarding Academic Achievement — School officials detail how they recognize student excellence and progress, Thelbert L. Drake, No. 2, p. 4

INDEX Author & Subject

Profiles

Lawrence W. Prakken and The Education Digest, Alan H. Jones, No. 4, p. 16

Michigan — Where the Concept of State NSPRA Chapters Originated, Hilary Nault, No. 4, p. 4

Case Studies

Battle on the Board — A superintendent is caught in a contention between cost-cutters and moderates, James W. Powell, No. 1, p. 20

Requiem for a Late Autumn Interlude — A superintendent, whose moods are ruled by the weather, faces a stormy conflict between two teachers, Philip T. West, No. 3, p. 20

The Protege — A prospective superintendent struggles to preseve his integrity, Philip T. West, No. 4, p. 26 (A case study did not appear in issue No. 2.)

Case Study Responses

The PTA Controversy, Sandra Graves, response to case study "The Big Event" in Vol. 10, No. 4; No. 1, p. 23

Can This School District Survive?, Edward W. Chance and Charles Butler, response to case study "Battle on the Board" in Vol. 11, No. 1; No. 3, p. 25

Seeing the Light, Kathy Denton, response to case study "Requiem for a Late Autumn Interlude" in Vol. 11, No. 3; No. 4, p. 28

Research

Arkansas Superintendents Choose Their Most Influential Citizen School Advocates, Carl F. Vaupel and Mary Jane Bradley, No. 3, p. 33

Chief Administrators of Student Affairs Departments in Texas Colleges and Universities Have an Important PR Role, Kathy Denton and Philip T. West, No. 3, p. 32

Female School Executives Identify Their 10 Top Stresses, Stephen L. Stark and Philip T. West, No. 4, p. 32

Principals View Internships as an Important Way to Improve Communication Skills, Laurie Witters-Churchill, No. 3, p. 32

PR Advisory Committees Are Viewed as an Effective Way to Obtain Community Input, Keith Cannon, No. 4, p. 31

Book Reviews

By Arthur W. Steller

The American Forecaster 1988, Kim Long, No. 3, p. 35

Communicating When Your Company Is Under Siege: Surviving Public Crisis, Marion Pinsdorf, No. 2, p. 35

Company Manners, Lois Wyse, No. 4, p. 34

The Education Almanac: 1987–88, Leroy Goodman, editor, No. 1, p. 33

Family and Nation, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, No. 1, p. 32

Forced Out, Hilda Scott and Juliet Brudney, No. 1, p. 33

The Image-Makers: Power and Persuasion on Madison Avenue, William Meyers, No. 3, p. 35

Leadership: Examining the Elusive, Linda Sheive and Marian Schoenheit, No. 2, p. 35

Making a Bad Situation Good, Raj Chapra, No. 1, p. 32

Managing the New Careerists, C. Brooklyn Derr, No. 1, p. 32

Marketing in an Electronic Age, Robert Buzzell, editor, No. 2, p. 34

Marketing Warfare, Al Ries and Jack Trout, No. 2, p. 34

Profiling Excellence in American Schools, John Roueche and George Baker III, No. 3, p. 35

Supermanaging, Arnold Brown and Edith Weiner, No. 4, p. 34

The Teacher's Almanac, Sherwood Harris and Lorna Harris, No. 2, p. 34

By Sheila J. Sewell

Due Process for School Officials: A Guide for the Conduct of Administrative Proceedings, Edgar H. Bittle, No. 1, p. 33

By Colleen Smith

The Great American Video Game, Martin Schramm, No. 4, p. 35 ■